SECTION 2 – QUESTIONS AND INFORMATION ON THE AWARD CATEGORY (65%)

Aviation within the tourism industry is a lead contributor of Greenhouse Gas emissions to the atmosphere, which lead to climate change. The effects of climate change can be seen as, among others as, abrupt weather patterns and biodiversity loss. This directly and negatively impacts tourism destinations and air travel. There is a need for air safari operators to respond to the climate crisis to prevent further degradation of the environment and contribute to its restoration. Reduction of carbon emissions and sound resource management are key factors that can improve the sustainability of air travel operations.
